In the Upside-Down World

EPISODE #6

By Warren Litzman

I received a newsletter from a man who claimed to be a global scientist. He was selling his latest book. In the book's introduction, he immediately let it be known that the word ignorance was applied to the Christians who continued to proclaim God was the Creator of this world. He went on to say the world would be a better place if ignorant Christians would get rid of their God, especially in connection with Creation.

I believe our upside-down world continues mostly because of these so-called "intellectuals" who think they can leave God out of Creation and out of their lives. In fact, their knowledge of good and evil, coming directly from Adam's disobedience, has been the greatest factor in keeping the world upside-down.

They blame Christians for believing the Bible. Yet, the only knowledge they have comes from other scientists. It is well known that many scientists are atheist. They do not believe there is a God who created the heavens and the earth, so the only record or knowledge they have of earth's origin has come down the line from other atheists. It's the blind leading the blind.

Remember, the only person God ever gave the ability to run the world was Adam in the Garden of Eden. Since that time, no one has ever had the knowledge or ability to run this world. It was Adam who turned the world upside-down, and it is still Adam's nature working in people today that keeps the world upside-down because every human who has not been re-birthed by God, the heavenly Father, still has Adam's rebellious nature in him/her. This is why you cannot depend on humans to correct this world. The world is God's creation, and He uses it to bring people to Christ for their salvation. The world is God's schoolhouse.

But you see, this is a choice every human must make: either follow a bunch of atheists or follow the one who created the world. It is not easy for "intellectuals" to accept God's Word because they think all the answers they need are not there. In life, there never are complete answers in any subject. As the old saying goes, "How can a brown cow eat green grass and give white milk and yellow butter?"

Once again I remind you the purpose of this writing is to inform humans that the world will never change because God is not in the business of changing the world. His work is to change the very nature of the people living in the world as they accept Christ as their very life. The changed life, Christ in you, will radically change the little world you live in, and that is God's ultimate intention.
